Ivy League's Fading Luster
Yale, Harvard and the other six Ivy League schools are losing popularity, although they don't appear to be in danger of having to lock the doors.

After several years of steady growth, and despite extensive recruiting efforts, the number of applications for admission declined this spring by an average of 7 per cent. Yale suffered the largest drop. Almost 20 per cent fewer high school seniors applied than a year ago. The smallest loss was taken by Princeton, down 4 per cent.

Registrars generally blamed the decline on the rising costs of attending each of the schools. More families are having to scramble to lay out $4,470 for Junior's tuition, room and board at Harvard. In addition, there are clothes, books and bundles of mad money that must come from somewhere.

A Harvard spokesman said many of his school's applicants were frightened away by the financial picture. A Yale official said the decline was little more than a natural leveling off after a sudden growth when the school went co-ed.

One admissions officer seemed to have the picture in focus. He said: "You don't have to go away to go to a good school anymore. And it's cheaper to stay near home anyway."

This may pose problems for the Ivy League, but it is encouraging news to the rest of the country. — Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser

49 Killed in West Coast Air Collision

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A jetliner carrying 49 persons cartwheeled "like a shooting star" into a mountain region and exploded after a collision with a Marine jet fighter. The only known survivor was one of the two crewmen aboard the military plane.

The Sunday night crash of the Hughes Air West DC9 was the worst civilian plane disaster in California history. And it was the first crash in the United States of a scheduled airliner in more than a year.

The radar interception officer of the Marine F4 Phantom jet parachuted to safety after the in-flight collision east of here.

He was the only reported survivor, but a helicopter pilot later reported sighting a parachute which he said he believed to be that of the pilot of the F4. It was sighted near the wreck of the fighter plane.

Nine bodies were spotted in the wreckage of the twin-engine airliner, which crashed into a deep gorge in two pieces and was still smoldering hours after the disaster.

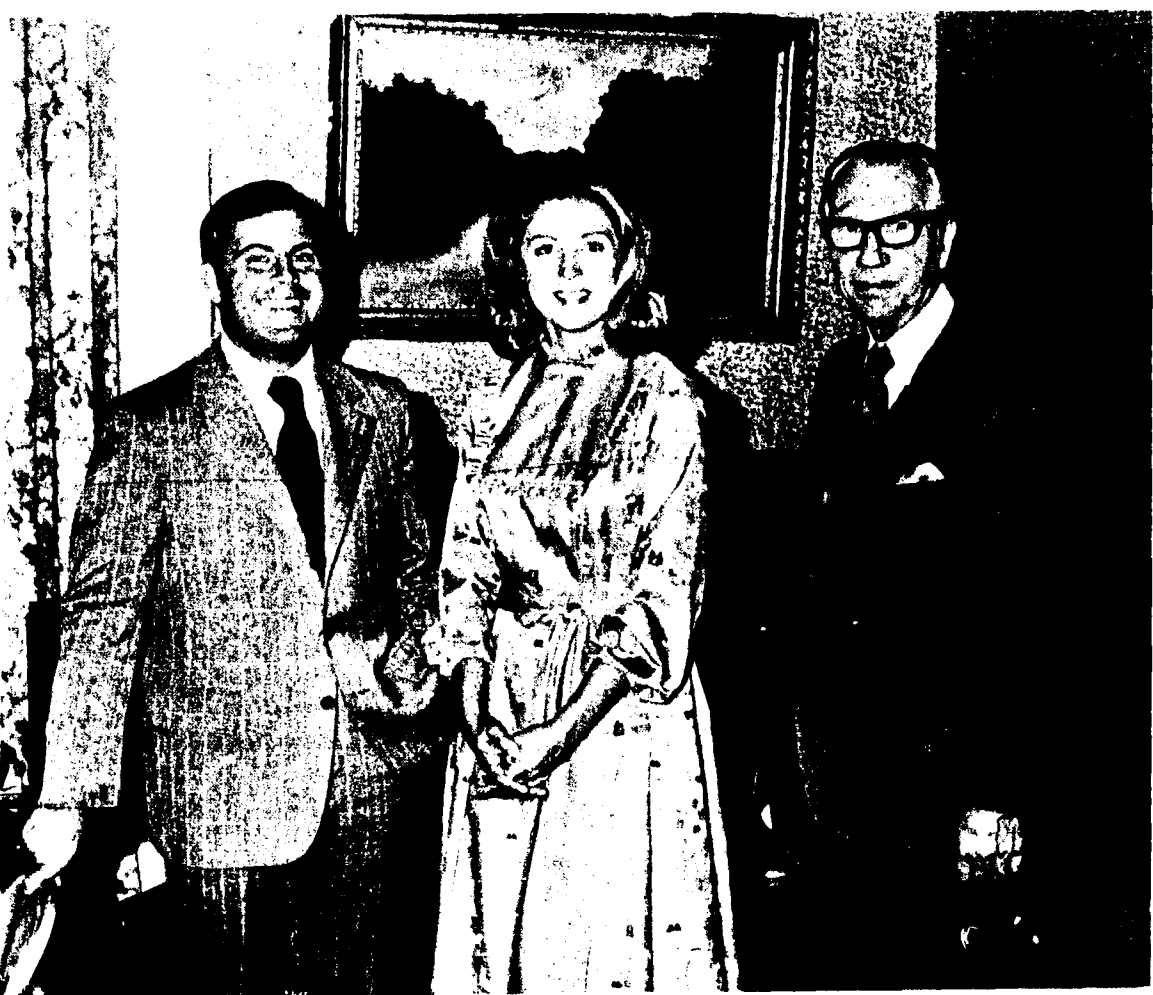

Wreckage was spread over a mile-square, tree-studded area. Fire officials and sheriff's deputies who flew over the wreckage before darkness fell said they were convinced no one aboard the DC9 could have survived.

A thick fog prevented sheriff's search and rescue teams from climbing down a cliff to the airliner or reaching the fighter during the night.

The gorge is too narrow to land a helicopter, officials said.

Dr. Mullins Speaks at Graduation

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dr. David Mullins, president of the University of Arkansas, told the graduates of the university's Little Rock unit Sunday that youth could be credited with changing the direction of the older generation.

He said that priorities had been changed by social upheaval, the Vietnam War, pollution, drug abuse and scientific innovations.

He also told the graduates that UALR would become "an increasingly significant force in the life of the state."

The dedication of the Contemporary Bowie Knife Collection was held Sunday, June 6 on the porch of the Old Tavern in Pioneer Washington with George Peck, President of Washington Restoration Foundation as Master of Ceremonies.

Kelly Bryant, Secretary of State, gave the Principal address and presented Arkansas Traveler Certificates to the visiting knife makers.

At the reception-luncheon following the dedication, Marjorie Royston, Hempsteads own "Miss Congeniality" served as official hostess in the home of her great, great grandfather, Grandison D. Royston, one of Washington's original settlers.

Williams' Conviction Is Upheld

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Supreme Court upheld today the first-degree murder conviction of a teen-ager in a double slaying March 29, 1970 near Nashville.

The judgment affirmed the life sentence of Richard Neal Williams of Delight, who was 15 at the time. He was accused of the shooting of Paul Parsons, 40, of Delight and Mrs. Lou Dean Cassidy of Nashville.

Mrs. Cassidy's 12-year-old daughter, Carolyn, testified at the trial that Williams killed her mother and Parsons while the four were parked in Parsons' car near Nashville.

The girl testified that the slayings occurred after she had repeatedly refused to have sexual relations with Williams and after her mother and Parsons

Cattle Study Thursday at Exp. Station

Farmers and businessmen interested in beef cattle are invited to a study day to be held Thursday, June 10, at the Southwest Branch Experiment Station at Hope, according to Cecil Bittle, asst. director in charge of the Branch Station.

The morning session, to begin at 9:30 a.m., will take place at the Branch Station's Spencer Tract located five and three-quarters miles northeast of Hope, Bittle says. Dr. E. M. Cralley, University of Arkansas Experiment Station director, will explain how the beef cattle research at the Southwest Branch Station is part of a statewide coordinated program. Other morning discussions will cover fertilization and cutting practices with Johnsongrass. Results of soybean pelleting and its use as a cattle fattening ration will also be explained.

Later in the morning and immediately following lunch, study day visitors will be divided into two groups to tour steer grazing management pastures and four cow-calf herds located at the Spencer Tract. During this tour, experiments with bermuda and fescue pasture fertilization, stocking rates, grain-fed cows, calf creep-feeding combinations and the results of these studies on cow weights and calf gaining ability will be explored, Bittle says.

At 12:30 p.m., a Dutch treat lunch will be served at the Southwest Branch Station's recreational area. After the afternoon tour, the group will adjourn at approximately 2:45 p.m.

Along with Dr. Cralley, those experiment Station staff members participating in the study day program will be Dr. A. E. Spooner, agronomist, Dr. Maurice Ray, animal scientist, and Herbert Huneycutt, Southwest Branch Station research assistant.

Russians Set Up 1st Space Station; Rendezvous Is Kept Procedures to Avoid Air Collisions Are Now Under Challenge

By JAMES R. POLK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government efforts to end deadly midair collisions have become caught in a fight between two safety agencies over an old flying rule left over from the Lindbergh days—the rule of "see and be seen."

In a jet age with airliners flying 600 miles an hour, a safety board is questioning whether a pilot's eye is fast enough to rely upon to see and avoid collisions.

The latest disaster that killed 49 in a crash between an Air West jet and a Marine Corps fighter plane Sunday near Los Angeles met all the classic conditions:

Clear, sunny skies. A crowded airliner flying under radar rules, only a few minutes away from its airport. Another plane zipping along by visual rules—what the radar people call "unknown traffic." Failure to spot it soon enough. Death.

The tragedy added to an already grim list of numbers: —Midair collisions have resulted in nearly two-thirds of all deaths, 240 out of 396, in U.S. jetliner crashes over the past four years.

—Almost once a day, somewhere in the nation, another jetliner has a close brush with a private plane in what the government labels a "near-miss." The study containing

Red Tanker Cuts French Ship in Two

PARIS (AP) — A 20,000-ton Soviet tanker sliced into the middle of a 2,750-ton French destroyer Sunday, and nine French sailors are missing and presumed lost in the western Mediterranean.

The French Navy said the tanker Busharov was making about 16 knots when it hit the destroyer Surcouf's bridge. The ship broke apart later in the morning, and the front half sank.

The missing men were all working in the engine room. Another sailor was badly burned. A spokesman for the French Navy said the tanker did not appear badly damaged, and there was no information on any casualties aboard her.

29 Killed in Air Crash at New Haven

By JAMES CARRIER
Associated Press Writer

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — An Allegheny Airlines plane with 29 aboard crashed on approach to Tweed-New Haven Airport Monday, and some reports put the number of dead as high as 29.

James Malarky, airport manager, said 29 persons were killed as the Convair 580 made a "low approach" in reduced visibility conditions.

A spokesman for Yale-New Haven hospital said 20 persons were dead. The hospital received three badly injured persons.

A witness said she saw the propjet plane strike high tension wire and plummet into a row of summer cottages. At least five of the cottages caught fire.

Police said it was believed most of the cottages were vacant.

The crash "looked and sounded like an atomic explosion," said Nancy Palmeri of East Haven, who said she heard three explosions as the plane hit the wire and crashed at the end of the runway.

MOSCOW (AP) — In a step toward building orbital space stations the Soviet Union's manned Soyuz 11 linked up today with the space Laboratory Salute launched seven weeks ago and three cosmonauts went aboard.

The two craft together formed a vehicle 60 feet long and 12 feet in diameter weighing 25 tons, Tass news agency said. Its volume was given as 3,521 cubic feet.

"A Soviet manned orbital scientific station is functioning," the agency reported.

The linkup climaxed a chase through space lasting more than 25 hours. Soyuz 11 streaked into orbit Sunday morning and began pursuing Salute, launched April 19.

The rendezvous, linkup and transfer was a key maneuver which must be perfected if the Soviet Union is to carry out its high-priority goal of building a permanently orbiting space laboratory.

Soviet space scientists envision a network of such space stations circling the earth and manned by crews which could be relieved by transport rockets. The rockets would dock with the station, link up and transfer the crews through "airtight" passageways.

Stations like Salute could serve as the cores of such stations and the transport rockets could link up to them like spokes to the hub of a wheel.

Soyuz weighs 7½ tons and Salute 17½ tons.

Soyuz 11 was the second Soviet spacecraft to dock with Salute. On April 24, three cosmonauts aboard Soyuz 10 linked up with the station for 5½ hours, undocked and returned to earth. The Soviet press reported no attempt to transfer cosmonauts.

Moscow television reported that the first man in today's linkup to make his way into Salute was Viktor Patsayev, the crew's 37-year-old civilian test engineer.

Patsayev is a specialist on the docking mechanisms and systems of orbital stations. He trained with Nikolai Rukavishnikov, the test engineer aboard Soyuz 10. The second man to go aboard, the television report said, was Vladimir Volkov, the flight engineer. At 35, he is the youngest, but most experienced, of Soyuz 11's crew.

Volkov was one of the "heavily seven" cosmonauts—as the Soviet press called them—who crewed the multiple Soyuz 6, 7 and 8 missions in October 1969.

The last man to go aboard was the mission commander, Lt. Col. Georgy Dobrovolsky, 43, a rookie in space.

Tass said the docking took place at 10:45 a.m. Moscow time—3:45 a.m. EDT—during Salute's 789th orbit of the earth.

The agency said the docking was carried out in two stages.

Antiwar Lobbying Begins

By ROBERT L. CAMPBELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Professional, religious and civil rights leaders open a week of antiwar lobbying here today in hopes of wooing 24 senators whose votes could mean passage of an amendment to withdraw U.S. funding of the Vietnam war by Dec. 31.

Their chances are considered slim by most observers.

The group, known as the Lobby of Americans, also is sponsoring radio and newspaper ads aimed at stirring pressure by constituents of senators who have not pledged support of the amendment.

The week-long campaign was to open with former Sens. Joseph Clark, D-Pa., Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, and Stephen Young, D-Ohio, holding a news conference and rally on the Capitol's east steps.

The lobbying efforts are aimed at lining up votes for the Senate's revived and revised McGovern-Hatfield amendment. The measure was defeated last year despite a similar organized campaign.

Eighteen of the 24 senators targeted for special pressure are among those who voted against the McGovern-Hatfield amendment last year when it was defeated 55 to 39. Five others are freshmen who have spoken in favor of President Nixon's war policies and one is a senator who neither voted nor stated a position last year.

A showdown vote is expected on the amendment this month but most observers feel the lobbying will not change the outcome.

"I don't think any debate or any pressure is going to change a single vote," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana. "They've got their minds made up."

The Lobby for Americans encompasses delegations from dozens of businessmen's, civil rights, environmental, senior citizens, church and women's organizations. One delegation is from a 4-H club.

Most of the day was to be devoted to strategy sessions, capped with an 8 p.m. meeting in a downtown hotel. Sens. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., and Phillip Hart, D-Mich., and former Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz and former Health, Education and Welfare Secretary John Gardner were to be among the scheduled speakers.

Gardner is head of Common Cause, a citizens' group which has volunteers phoning members throughout the nation, urging they write or phone their congressmen about the war.

Filing Fees Protested by Solon

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Rep. Art Givens of Sherwood said Saturday that a proposed increase in the fee charged candidates filing for office in Pulaski County would "freeze out" the average candidate.

Givens voiced his opinion in a letter to Gov. Dale Bumpers. Presently the filing fee for state Senate is $1,200 and the fee for the House is $600.

Eight Die on State Highways

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Eight persons lost their lives on Arkansas' highways this past weekend.

The weekend driving period began badly as the first four fatalities were recorded in a single accident Saturday as a truck and car collided on Arkansas 147 in Crittenden County near Lehi.

State Police identified the dead in that accident as Charline Glasper, 18, and Brenda Byrd, 13, both of Hughes, C. W. Walker, 25, of near Hughes and Carrie B. Brooks, 17, of near Hughes.

The Associated Press weekend highway death count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Also killed were:

— Paul D. Olden, 21, of McNab (Hempstead County) in a one-car accident on Arkansas 355 near Hope Sunday.

— Jimmy Wenney, 23, of near Pocahontas, when his car went out of control Sunday on Arkansas 115 near Pocahontas.

— Martin Castlow, 24, of Carlisle Saturday in a two-car accident near Lonoke on U.S. 70.

— Mrs. Beverly Sue Moon, 24, of near Fort Smith, when she lost control of a car pulling a boat and trailer near Fort Smith Saturday.

No Separate Districts for Minorities

— Supreme Court Rules

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — State legislatures do not have to go out of their way to carve out separate districts for blacks and other minority groups, the Supreme Court ruled 5 to 3 today in an Indiana case.

Unless there is evidence ghetto residents are not participating in the political process they can be lumped together with surrounding white voters in one multi-member district, Justice Byron R. White said.

The ruling upsets the judgment of a federal court in Indianapolis that the blacks in the city's center township ghetto are entitled to have their own state senators and representatives.

White said the Supreme Court has always been alert to the rights of Negroes but could find nothing to show that the blacks in the Indiana city were not allowed to register or vote or to be "equally represented" in the selection of state legislators.

Moreover, White said, since poor blacks in Indianapolis generally are members of the Democratic Party, it is unlikely that the Democratic party "could afford to overlook the ghetto in slating its candidates."

The court's liberal bloc, Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr., and Thurgood Marshall, dissented.

Justice John M. Harlan filed a separate opinion saying the court is pursuing a "will-o'-the-wisp" and should stay out of such apportionment disputes.

Douglas said the city's blacks are surrounded by white voters and "it is asking the impossible for us to demand that the blacks first show that the effect of the scheme was to discourage or prevent poor blacks from voting or joining such party as they choose."

He added: "On this record, the voting rights of the blacks have been abridged, as I read the Constitution."

Candlelight Mass for R. Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Three thousand people crowded a hillside above the graves of two slain Kennedys Sunday for a candlelight folk mass marking the third anniversary of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's assassination.

Twelve of the Kennedy family children, including Caroline, daughter of John F. Kennedy, participated in reading parts of the memorial mass rites.

The Kennedy family gathered around the simple flower-laden gravesite of Robert Kennedy for the mass, led by Albert F. Peria, pastor of St. Luke's Roman Catholic Church in McLean, the Virginia suburb where the senator's widow and children live. Five of Robert Kennedy's younger children participated—David, Courtney, Christopher, Michael and Kerry—along with several of their cousins.

Behind the Kennedy families stood such old friends as former Defense Secretary Robert F. McNamara, and a number who had served the president and his brother.

W. Averill Harriman, former diplomat and longtime friend of the Kennedys was the only adult besides the minister who participated in the service.

At the conclusion, Ethel Kennedy knelt by the grave for prayers, followed by the sisters of Robert and John, and most of their children. The last to kneel was Robert Kennedy's oldest son, Joe who lingered longest and left near tears.

No. 1 Bull-Fighter of Spain Also One of Greatest Athletes

By FENTON WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

MADRID (AP) — His publicity man calls him the highest paid athlete in the world. His critics call him a disgrace. Palace insiders call him Gen. Francisco Franco's favorite bullfighter. And the impresarios call him money in the bank.

Whatever the reaction, adulation or hatred, Manuel Benitez Perez, 35, professionally "El Cordobes," stacks up as a genuine phenomenon in the cynical, cruel and complicated world of bullfighting.

He is part boy, part killer, part clown; a mixture of the old and the new in Spain, the Muhammad Ali of the bull ring, a success story without an end and the No. 1 tourist attraction in a country where tourists will soon outnumber the residents.

He also is the No. 1 bullfighter in the world, an unofficial title he intends to scatter around as much as possible on June 13 by appearing in the first closed circuit telecast by satellite from Spain.

On that date, a Sunday, El Cordobes will join two other Spanish matadors in the small southern town of Jaen to fight and kill six bulls in bloody living and dying color.

"I am not going to have bad luck," says El Cordobes as a handler raises him off the floor to slide him into his skintight bullfight pants.

That is the hope, too, of Management Television Systems Inc., promoters of the Joe Frazier-Muhammad Ali fight. The organization says El Cordobes and the "national fiesta" of Spain will be beamed into 52 U.S. cities, Japan, Italy, West Germany and much of Latin America.

Like the Frazier-Ali heavyweight title bout, El Cordobes' encounter is being billed as

Bumpers Blames His Education

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers said Sunday that he had probably vetoed some bills of the recent legislature that should have been passed and signed some he should have vetoed.

He blamed his actions on his childhood education. "My mother told me that everything was either black or white," the governor said. But, he said, he found since being elected there were some areas of gray.

"the bullfight of the century." It hardly will be that. Several "bullfights of the century" have preceded El Cordobes.

Great matadors like Manolete of Josellito made bullfight history in the surest way a bullfighter can—by dying on the horns of the bull. El Cordobes seems unlikely to do that and fans of the classic performer shudder at the suggestion of putting mop-haired, unconventional El Cordobes in that category even if he were to die in action.

A full-fledged matador for seven seasons now, El Cordobes has risen literally from rags to riches, earns more than $1 million annually, has piled up other millions of pesetas, a ranch, a hotel, an airplane, a fleet of flashy cars and a reputation with women.

He has fought and killed hundreds of bulls, been gored seriously a half dozen times, protected by police after a bad showing and prosecuted and fined for not fighting when he was supposed to.

Warm, Humid Through Thursday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Warm and humid weather is expected to continue in Arkansas through Tuesday.

Scattered thundershowers are also forecast.

Showers were widespread Sunday, but the precipitation missed almost all reporting stations. Showers began dissipating early Sunday evening, but there was still some precipitation being reported in the eastern portion of the state this morning.

A line of showers and thundershowers developed during the night in southwest Missouri and was moving toward northwest Arkansas. If the shower activity moves into the area, temperatures there will be cooler than in the remainder of the state.

Highs Sunday were in the 80s and 90s with Jonesboro recording a 95.

Highs today and Tuesday should be in the 80s to mid 90s. Lows tonight should be in the high 50s northwest to high 60s and low 70s in other areas.

Overnight lows include Fayetteville 68, Harrison 64, Jonesboro 71, Pine Bluff 67, Memphis 70, Little Rock 66, Fort Smith 65, Texarkana 70 and El Dorado 67.

Open-Housing Policy Is Awaited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ranking organizations involved in fighting racial discrimination in housing dubiously await President Nixon's open-housing policy statement, now getting its final touches at the White House.

The statement, which Nixon has said will set forth the administration position "in complete compliance with the law as interpreted by the Supreme Court," is expected early this week.

"He's probably going to say you can be an economic snob so long as you are not caught being a racial bigot," said Herbert M. Franklin, executive associate of the National Urban Coalition and its open-housing specialist.

Jack E. Wood, an executive director of the National Committee against Discrimination in Housing oldest and most active private organization in the open-housing struggle, said he doubted "an imaginative and far-reaching statement commensurate with the times" will be forthcoming but "maybe we'll be pleasantly surprised."

"The administration doesn't yet fully understand the hurtful implications of some of the more subtle forms of discrimination in housing," said Wood.

Both Wood and Franklin based part of their skepticism on a past presidential statement that made a distinction between racial and economic motivations.

They also took note of Nixon's comment last week that the administration policy would adhere to the law as interpreted by the Supreme Court in two cases.

In one of them, James vs. Valtierra, the court upheld by a 5-3 vote a California state constitutional requirement for local referendums on proposed public housing projects.

NCDH has interpreted the decision as "a major setback in the effort to create new housing opportunities outside central city ghettos."

Richard F. Bellman, an NCDH attorney, predicted the President would cite the Valtierra case to justify the distinction between economic and racial segregation.

He contended, however, that under the Fair Housing Act of 1968 and the Civil Rights Act of 1964 "The administration has an independent responsibility to use administrative policies affirmatively to see that there is equal opportunity in housing."

Heflin Has Heart Attack in Pool

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Veteran actor Van Heflin, 60, critically stricken by a heart attack Sunday during his daily swimming exercise, was in "guarded" condition today, a hospital spokesman said.

The spokesman would not say whether Heflin had regained consciousness or whether his condition had improved.

A gardener pulled the actor from his apartment pool after finding him clinging to a ladder, his head barely above water.

Revenue Split Doomed, Says Rep. Mills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur Mills says he has been unable to halt a campaign by his friends to nominate him as the Democratic presidential candidate.

"I have tried as best I can to control what they're doing, but I cannot," he said Sunday. "My friends are having a good time."

Mills appeared on the NBC TV-radio program "Meet the Press."

The Arkansas Democrat said he will not pursue the nomination despite his recent stumping the country for the Democratic party. And he said there is no way he can see the party picking him to head its 1972 ticket.

Asked about running for the vice presidential nomination, Mills said it "might be the one thing I couldn't do to help the party."

Mills recently has been touring the country to speak against President Nixon's revenue-sharing plan. Under the proposal, cities and states would be free to spend some federal funds with no strings attached.

Mills, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee since 1958, said he sees no chance of the administration compromising on the program in an effort to get it through Congress.

He said he is certain his committee will vote overwhelmingly to keep the measure bottled up.

Asked if he wasn't denying representative government by not allowing the full Congress to vote on revenue sharing, Mills said "The committees of Congress are also a part of representative government."

On the state of the economy, Mills said only if there were a dramatic reversal in statistics in the second quarter could he support a tax cut. He predicted second quarter indicators will probably show some growth, but not as much as during the first quarter.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "The Val Doonican Show" on ABC used the old basic recipe for summer variety shows in its premiere: Take a couple of guests, a lot of light music, a bit of dancing, stir well with informal chatter and add a comedy spot.

The result Saturday night was a bland 60 minutes, so stereotyped in outline that it fit neatly in familiar television scenery as if deliberately camouflaged.

Doonican, an Irishman and popular British music hall performer, is a relaxed, informal entertainer, reminding one of Andy Williams in style and even in looks. He sings in a pleasant voice, plays the guitar and, happily, does not overdo the brogue.

Opening show guests were Petula Clark and an American country singer, Jerry Reed. The dismal parts of the show were the non-musical moments, particularly bits of awkward, stilted dialogue between the star and his guests working off cue cards.

There also was an unfortunate silent spot with two British comedians running through a variation of an old Laurel and Hardy routine. It was the bit where action starts by cutting off one fellow's necktie and, in this case, continued by cutting up straw hats in an electric saw, crushing lunch boxes in a vise and finally, spraying paint at each other. Maybe the kids in the audience loved it.

Strictly for the kids was Bob Sherman's half hour special Friday night, also on ABC. Sherman, a fresh-faced youngster with a number of hit records, was show-cased as a singing idol in the old Elvis Presley manner—surrounded by an audience of squealing girls.

The program was given a lift by the appearance of the Fifth Dimension, a fine singing group. In the climax, Sherman moved into the audience in the Tom Jones manner, and ran through some of his identifying numbers as the super-appreciative studio audience went wild.

Sherman will have his own weekly series on ABC in the fall, but the format will be musical comedy with a story line about a young musician trying to make good. It will, presumably, have a broader audience appeal than his special.

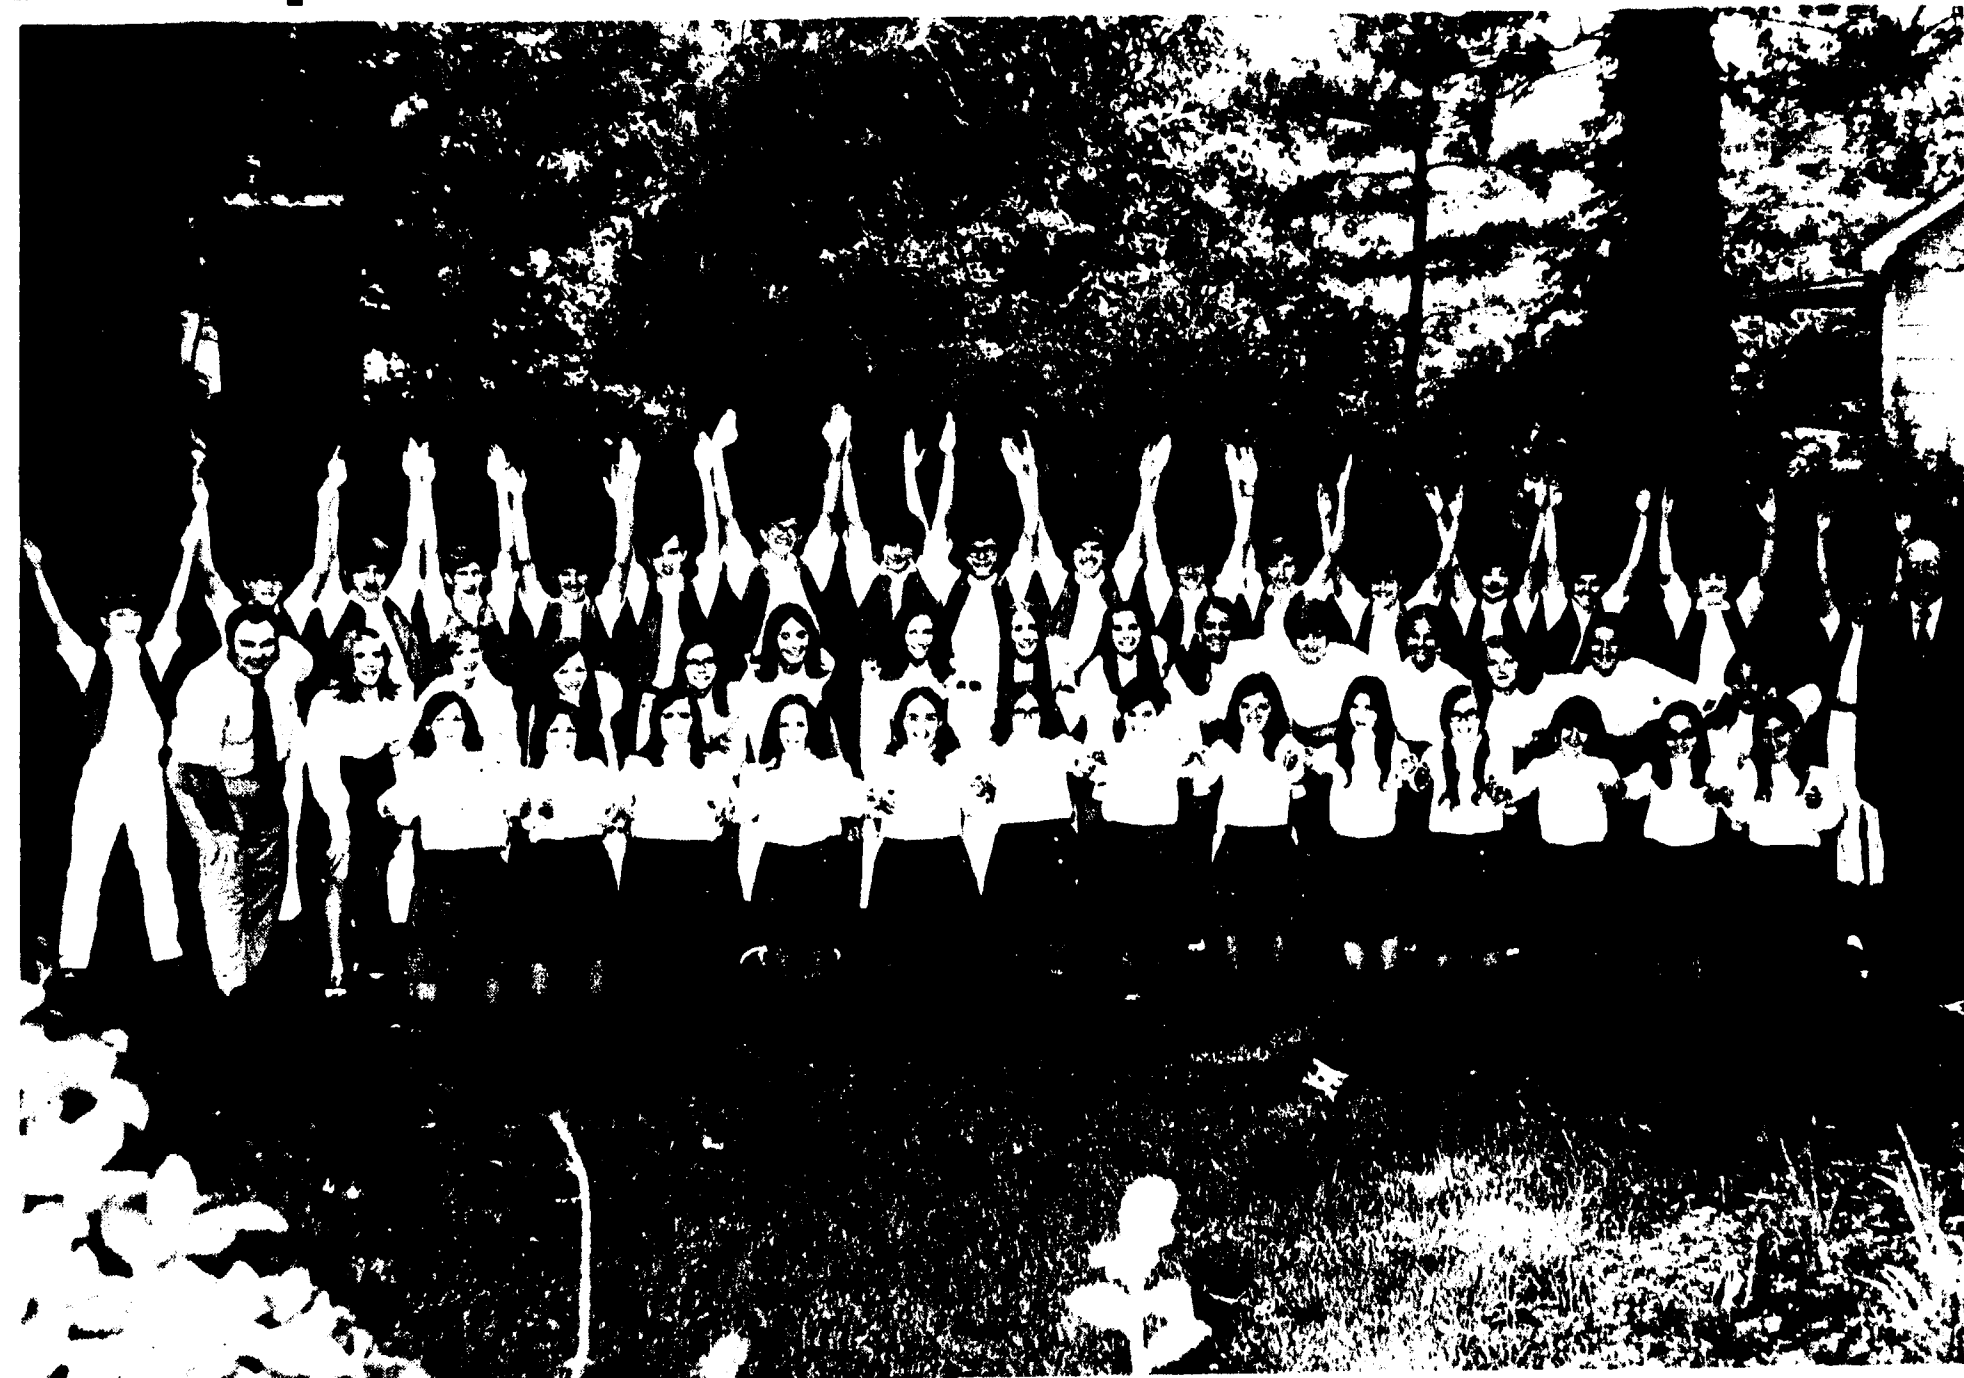

CBS coverage of Saturday afternoon's Belmont Stakes held more than ordinary interest for the average viewer. There was the possibility that Canonero II might become the first Triple Crown winner since 1948. The horse already had won the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness.

Canonero was beaten by the long-shot Pass Catcher but the network crew did a great job of bringing a horse race into the living room. The coverage also demonstrated the headaches that some sports present for television producers.

CBS gave the 2½-minute race a full hour of coverage and it had its troubles filling the periods between the commercials. There were pre-taped interviews, talks with trainers and

by Helen Bottel

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN IS NOT AN "ACT"

Dear Helen:

Many years ago a relative suffered a nervous breakdown. We tried sympathy, then being stern. Nothing helped. Finally we gave up in disgust and ignored her, as we felt most of it was an act and she wasn't trying to get well. We were angry because she was ruining the happiness of all of us.

I can now understand what she suffered, for in the past 12 years I have had two breakdowns. Only those who have gone through this hell on earth can comprehend what it's like.

Worst of all, you're aware of what is happening and can't control it. Your emotions run wild and the harder you fight them, the more exhausted you are, so in your weakened condition, they really take over.

There's a fear so intense it's terrifying, and death would seem a blessing. Sometimes you appear calm to others, but inside a battle rages. You sit still from panic: If you start screaming, you might never stop!

Psychiatry didn't help. I had to go it alone, and I made it, just barely. But there's always that fear it will happen again—That "hanging on to yourself," watching for the first symptom.

I'm writing this, Helen, because I see others "on the verge," and see their confused and often resentful families turning away. These (we) people need sympathy as much as we need air. We need someone to understand and love us, to put their arms around us and let us know they'll stand by.

Mental illness is a terrifying thing. We can't cope, hope, or fight it alone. Yet more often than not, we're forced to.—A.D.

Dear A.:

Let's take your excellent letter one step further: If love, understanding and real communication were ALWAYS present in the family, the incidence of nervous breakdowns might decrease by at least three-fourths.—H.

Dear Helen:

I was healthy, pretty and 20 when my mother became ill. The other five children were married or about to be, so that left me to care for her and Dad. I quit my job and became a nurse at home.

After her death, my father was ailing, so for seven years I cared for him. I had no social life and no friends.

Dad's death turned me toward a job, but by now the years had taken their toll. Due to my poor health, I am without work for long periods, and my income jockeys, and even some material about Canonero sent by satellite from his home in Venezuela. After the race, the tape was re-played, partly in slow motion, and then fulsome rehashing of the race. There must be a better way.

The way of life for more than fifty young people and their adult sponsors, members of First Baptist Church of Hope, will undergo a radical change for ten days, beginning early Monday morning, June 14th.

On that day a Summer Mission Tour begins. It will take these dedicated Christians to the Navajo Indian Reservation, located in Arizona and New Mexico where they will conduct Vacation Bible Schools and do personal witnessing among the people living on the Reservation. This Mission Group has been preparing for this trip for several months and they feel they are now ready to share the message of Jesus Christ with the friends they'll make among the Indians with whom they'll be working.

The logistics of such a trip presents real problems. All the food, supplies, cooking and sleeping gear as well as housing (tents) will have to be taken from Hope. The task has, at times, seemed insurmountable, but all preparations have been made, things have fallen into place, and the members of the Mission Group are anxiously looking forward to the challenges before them.

But how will their ways of life be changed? They'll be living in a somewhat barren and desolate land. Young people who have never before been very far away from the comforts of their homes, modern bath rooms, well equipped kitchens, and good beds will be sleeping in tents and on the ground. There will be no bath rooms and sanitary facilities will be where they find them. Meals of dry cereal, powdered milk, powdered eggs, canned meats, canned vegetables, and a lot of peanut butter eaten while sitting on the ground won't be like sitting down at "Mother's" table.

Why are these young Christians doing this? Naturally a part of the reason is the uniqueness and challenge of such a trip, but the real motivation is their love for Christ and a sincere desire to share His message with some who might not hear it from others.

time—a year perhaps to build up your physical and mental health so that you can face freedom and enjoy it. I believe your family will finance this sabbatical, if you show your determination to become a new woman. Why not ask them?—H.

Canonero II to Be Sold by Owner

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Pass Catcher is the Belmont Stakes winner but the talk of the thoroughbred racing world still is Canonero II, and the talking that counts is that of attorneys and accountants.

The Kentucky-bred pride of Venezuela, whose Triple Crown bid ended with a fourth-place finish in Saturday's Belmont, will almost certainly be sold—in fact, there have been reports he has been sold but they have been denied by owner Pedro Baptista.

"He will be sold after the Belmont, win or lose, if my terms are met," the Venezuelan industrialist said a few days before the Belmont.

And despite Canonero II's defeat and continued questioning of his fitness, it appeared Sunday that many people are interested in meeting Baptista's terms.

"We already have had six telephone calls after the race from people confirming that they still want to buy Canonero II," Victor Scialom, a close friend, partner in ownership of other horses and spokesman for Baptista, said Saturday.

As for reports that a deal had been made, Baptista denied Saturday before the race that a $3.1 million, 5-year leasing deal had been made with a Florida group and Scialom denied Sunday that the colt had been sold to another Florida group for less than $2 million. Scialom also said an offer had been received from La Rinconada, the race track in Caracas.

Scialom said Baptista would call a news conference when a deal is consummated and would not have any statements before that.

The other topic of conversation concerning Canonero II, besides his imminent sale, continued to be his fitness.

Trainer Juan Arias revealed Sunday that a week before the Belmont he had considered not running the colt because of a skin rash and an infection in his right hind foot. But Arias said Canonero II responded to treatment and was healthy for the grueling 1½-mile race.

However, the trainer did feel that the rash and infection affected Canonero II in that it caused the colt to miss two days training a week before the race, and that he had to go easy on the colt on several other days.

Perhaps the most notable thing about Pass Catcher's victory, except for the impressive way it was accomplished, was the lack of attention it brought the winner.

But trainer Eddie Yowell and owner Peter Kissel did not seem to mind the lack of attention. When newsmen and photographers showed up at Belmont Park Sunday they found that Pass Catcher had left by van about 5 a.m., EDT, for Monmouth Park, Yowell's base of operations.

"I knew he was a good horse and had a chance for the Belmont when he won the Jersey Derby Prep at Garden State," Walter Blum said after Pass Catcher had won the Belmont by three-quarters of a length over Jim French, with Bold Reason third, a neck ahead of Canonero II who was bidding to become the ninth Triple Crown winner and first since Citation in 1948.

Dodgers Over N.Y. Mets 4-3

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

It seemed like old times for Richie Allen and the Los Angeles Dodgers until Bill Russell came off the bench to show them all some new tricks. Sandy Koufax fired fastballs, Duke Snider swung from the heels, a bird flew out of Casey Stengel's cap and Allen made himself disappear during the Dodgers' Oldtimers Day festivities Sunday.

Then Russell, a last-minute replacement for the elusive Allen in the Los Angeles clean-up spot, smacked a single, double and triple to lead the Dodgers past the New York Mets 4-3.

In other National League action, San Francisco dropped its doubleheader opener to Philadelphia 1-0 but won the nightcap 4-3 on Willie Mays' 12th inning homer; Pittsburgh outslugged Houston 9-8; Cincinnati topped St. Louis 4-2; the Chicago Cubs downed Atlanta 6-3 and San Diego swept a twin bill from Montreal 8-0 and 8-4.

In the American League, Baltimore edged Milwaukee 4-3; California tamed Boston 5-2; Oakland drubbed Washington 8-1; Minnesota shaded Cleveland 4-3; the New York Yankees stopped Kansas City 5-2 and the Chicago White Sox beat Detroit 8-2 before rain washed out their doubleheader nightcap.

Allen, whose AWOL antics during his stormy days with the Phillies made headlines, was chatting with a friend in the Los Angeles clubhouse area while the Dodger Oldtimers went through their paces in a three-inning game. When the Dodgers took the field for the regular game, their controversial slugger still was missing. Manager Walter Alton hastily scratched Allen's name from the lineup and sent light-hitting Russell to the outfield.

"The rule says you have to have nine men on the field," Alton said later. "With all the oldtimers running around, back and forth, we had a hard time corraling eight guys. We just didn't see Rich."

"It looked a lot worse than what it was. It was non-intentional and unavoidable. It could have happened to anyone."

The happening made Russell a No. 4 hitter for the first time in his major league career. And he made the most of it, keying a three-run rally with his fourth inning double and knocking in what proved to be the winning run with his triple in the fifth. "I wasn't prepared to play," the young speedster said after boosting his batting average 21 points to .226 as the Dodgers trimmed another half-game off San Francisco's West Division lead. "I just walked into the dugout, put my gloves under the bench and got ready to sit down when the guys ran onto the field."

"Then the manager said 'Russell, get in left field,' and that was all there was to it. I grabbed my glove and ran out there."

The Oldtimers dazzled a crowd of 48,227 which turned out for Dodger Stadium's 10th anniversary festivities.

Stengel, who doffed his cap and sent a sparrow aloft during a rharubar at Brooklyn's Ebbets Field 52 years ago, repeated the stunt. But this time, a pigeon took flight from Casey's headgear.

"That's inflation," shrugged Stengel.

Philadelphia extended the Giants' June swoon to five consecutive setbacks in their doubleheader opener as Rick Wise tossed a three-hitter and Ron Stone delivered the only run with a sixth inning single off Steve Stone.

It was the first shutout loss of the season for San Francisco.

The Giants rebounded in the second game as Mays stroked a double to touch off a tying two-run rally in the ninth and then broke the deadlock in the 12th with his 61st career homer—and 13th this year.

Dave Cash's first homer of the season, a bases-empty blast in the eighth, carried the Pirates past Houston and within one-half game of first-place St. Louis in the East.

Willie Stargell drove in three Pittsburgh runs with a single and his 18th homer. Bob Watson produced four for the Astros with a double and homer. The Reds clipped the Cardinals on Lee May's three-run

Red Sox Downed 5-2 by Angels

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer
Jim Fregosi is the California Angels' indispensable man, but the Boston Red Sox can do without him.

The veteran shortstop, hobbled by a foot injury that kept him out of his normal position for several weeks, was a key man in Sunday's 5-2 victory over the Red Sox that extended Boston's skid to seven defeats in nine games and left them 1½ games behind Baltimore in the American League East.

Fregosi, who fielded brilliantly in California's 3-2 triumph on Saturday, socked his third homer Sunday and later singled and scored the Angels' second run as they pinned Sonny Siebert with his second straight setback after he won his first nine decisions.

Elsewhere, Baltimore edged Milwaukee 4-3, Vida Blue hurled Oakland to an 8-1 victory over Washington, the New York Yankees cooled off Kansas City 5-2, Minnesota nipped Cleveland 4-3 and the Chicago White Sox battered Detroit 8-2 before the second game of their scheduled doubleheader was rained out with the Tigers ahead 2-0 in the fourth inning.

In the National League, Philadelphia shaded San Francisco 1-0 but the Giants took the nightcap 4-3 in 12 innings, Cincinnati beat St. Louis 4-2, Pittsburgh outlasted Houston 9-8, Los Angeles held off the New York Mets 4-3, the Chicago Cubs whipped Atlanta 6-3 and San Diego swept Montreal 8-0 and 8-4.

Early in the season, Fregosi developed a growth on the bone between two toes of his right foot. It became infected following a shot of medication and it took five weeks for the infection to disappear.

Meanwhile, Fregosi has bided his time mostly as a pinch hitter, with an occasional appearance in the outfield or at first base, where the strain on his foot isn't as great as when he plays short.

"I figure the club needs me in there, so I play," said Fregosi, who decided against an operation during the season. "The pain is the worst when I swing and miss or when I have to go into the hole and make a long throw off my right foot."

"When he plays, he glues us together," said manager Lefty Phillips. "He's a helluva competitor. I said all spring the one man we couldn't afford to lose for a week or 10 days was Fregosi."

The Orioles unleashed a 1-2 punch on the first two pitches thrown by Milwaukee's Marty Pattin in the seventh inning and came from behind to beat the Brewers and run their winning streak to five games.

Pattin's bases-loaded double had given the Brewers a 2-1 lead in the sixth but Frank Robinson, who had homered in the fourth, connected again on pitch No. 1 to tie the score and Ellie Hendricks sent pitch No. 2 to the same fate.

Mark Belanger eventually singled home what proved to be the winning run, offsetting Al Yates' first major league homer in the eighth.

Rick Monday drove in three runs with a homer and single BATTING — Bill Russell, Dodgers, a last-minute replacement for Richie Allen, lashed a single, double and triple, scoring one run and driving in the eventual winner as Los Angeles held off the New York Mets 4-3.

PITCHING — Rick Wise, Phillies, checked San Francisco 1-0 on a three-hitter, two of them infield hits, in the opener of a doubleheader, the first shutout against the Giants this season.

Jim Ryun Places 10 Among 12

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — "He probably shouldn't have run,"

Arne Kvalheim, a gifted runner from Norway, said. "He's been sick all week."

Kvalheim, running for the Oregon Track Club, was refereeing to Jim Ryun, the world record holder in the mile, who finished a disappointing 10th among 12 runners Sunday night in the third annual Twilight Track and Field Meet.

Ryun, who set the world mark of 3:51.1 four years ago, was suffering from a severe week-long case of hay fever and never threatened the leaders—Kvalheim and Oregon sophomore, Steve Prefontaine, the NCAA three-mile and cross-country champion.

Flying pollen from Oregon's Willamette Valley did away with what had been billed as a duel between Prefontaine and Ryun.

Ryun said he had begun taking shots but hadn't had time to build up a resistance. "It's one of those things that get to your breathing and eventually affects your legs," the former Kansas star said.

An overflow crowd of 11,200 was on its feet at the finish as Kvalheim caught Prefontaine on the final turn and sprinted to a lifetime best of 3:56.4. Prefontaine, who specializes in the longer distance events, equaled his top mark of 3:57.4 set at and Gene Tenace also homered in support of Blue's four-hit pitching as Oakland turned back Washington. The sensational left-hander boosted his record to 12-2 and avenged an opening day defeat in Washington.

New York staked Stan Bahnsen to a 5-0 lead in the third inning and the right-hander withstood successive sixth-inning homers by Amos Otis and Ed Kirkpatrick for his third straight complete game triumph.

Bahnsen ignited the Yankees' uprising with a single and the runs crossed on an infield out and singles by Bobby Murcer, Roy White, Thurman Munson and Felipe Alou.

Rich Reese hammered his first home run of the season, a two-run shot in the third inning that started the Twins to victory over the Indians. Jim Holt's triple and Leo Cardenas' single made it 3-0 and Brant Alyea's run-scoring single in the eighth enabled the Twins to withstand Cleveland homers by Graig Nettles and Chris Chambliss.

Jay Johnstone slugged a pair of homers, Bill Melton hit a solo shot and Tom Egan ripped a two-run double in Chicago's defeat of Detroit. The White Sox kayoed Joe Coleman in the first inning.

The run then washed away a home run by Detroit's Gumbert Brown in the nightcap.

Dickinson Wins Atlanta Golf Classic

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer
ATLANTA (AP) — "He's a tough, little man," Jack Nicklaus said after he had bowed to wiry, chain-smoking veteran Gardner Dickinson in a sudden death playoff for the $25,000 first prize in the Atlanta Golf Classic.

Each fired regulation 70's Sunday, tying for the top spot after the 72 holes with nine-under-par scores of 275.

Dickinson, a onetime Ben Hogan protege, who effects a white cap and many of Hogan's mannerisms, escaped with his eighth title in 20 years on the pro tour Sunday when Nicklaus three-putted the first extra hole for a bogey.

"I was in pretty good shape, but I let it get away," said Nicklaus, probably the most feared competitor in the game today.

Dickinson, at 43 one of the oldest men in the field, had to fight the strength-sapping heat and leg-testing hills of the 6,883-yard par 72 Atlanta Country Club course, also talked about putting.

"I've been on the verge of playing well for quite some time," the slim, 135-pounder said. "I've finally got around the putting some. And that's a lot of pressure off your long game."

"Nobody wins a golf tournament unless he putts real, real well."

One stroke back, and in contention all the way, were Lee Trevino and South African Gary Player, tied at 276. Trevino had a 70 and Player could manage only a 72.

Tommy Aaron, who won this tournament a year ago, headed a group of four at 278. The others were Steve Reid, former PGA champion Ray Floyd, and young Johnny Miller.

It was a four-way struggle most of the hot and humid day with Dickinson the overlooked man as the huge gallery whooped and hollered for their favorites—Nicklaus, Player and Trevino.

At one time or another Dickinson, Player and Nicklaus all led or shared the lead.

The drama came down to the final two finishing holes. Nicklaus and Trevino were on the par five 18th when Player and Dickinson were playing No. 17.

Player had the lead at 13-under-par, Dickinson and Nicklaus were 12 and Trevino 11.

Player, one of the world's greatest sand players, bogeyed from a trap.

Dickinson got up and down from a trap to remain 12 under. At about the same time Nicklaus scored a two-putt birdie on the 18th and Trevino just missed on a 20-foot eagle putt he needed to gain a spot in the playoff.

Player and Dickinson both reached a trap in front of the 18th green in two. Player blasted out to seven feet—and missed the putt. He was out of it.

Travelers Lose 5-4 to Hornets

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—The Charlotte Hornets scored two runs in the ninth inning to squeeze by the Arkansas Travelers in Dixie Association play here Sunday.

Trailing by one run, with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning, Rick Albury hit a home run for the Hornets to claim the 5-4 victory.

Sunday's loss was the second straight defeat of the Travelers by Charlotte. Charlotte trails Asheville, S.C., for the lead in the East Division, while Arkansas leads in the Central Division.

Bob Wissler opened the scoring with a home run in the third inning. The Travelers then pulled ahead in the fourth inning with back to back doubles by Ken Reitz and Danny Napoleon.

The Travelers scored their other run in the ninth inning. Arkansas will meet Charlotte again tonight.

In other Dixie Association action Sunday: San Antonio 9, Albuquerque 4; Asheville 5, Birmingham 3; Columbus 7, Montgomery 5; Shreveport 3, Savannah 2; Dallas - Fort Worth 5, Amarillo 1; Jacksonville at Memphis, postponed due to rain.

HARD TIMES FELL upon two former American League stars early this season as Washington Senator pitcher Denny McLain, twice a Cy Young Award winner as a Detroit Tiger, watched former teammate Al Kalline circle the bases after hitting a home run and querulous California Angel outfielder Alex Johnson, last year's league batting champion, found himself benched.

Texas Star Dies of Cancer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Fred Steinmark, the plucky 21-year-old football star from the University of Texas, who refused to give up after being struck by cancer, died here late Sunday night with a recurrence of the disease.

Death came 17 months after Steinmark's left leg had been removed in an effort to stop the cancer.

He had re-entered M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute—where the original operation was performed—April 20.

On Dec. 6, President Nixon was among the fans in Fayetteville, Ark., as the Longhorns made a fantastic rally to whip Arkansas 15-14 and gain the national football championship.

But six days later surgeons amputated Steinmark's left leg after discovering a bone tumor in his thigh.

His remarkable recovery at first surprised even the medical experts.

He returned to Austin and continued his studies and last season served as an assistant coach for the Longhorns and also scouted.

He made marriage plans but the announced marriage date came several weeks ago with Steinmark in the hospital and gravely ill. He had been listed in critical condition since he was admitted and sources said then it was only a matter of time.

Air Hose Is Big Help to Bobby Allison

DOVER, DEL. (AP) — A little air hose was a large help to Bobby Allison, but too little gas almost caused him a big problem.

Allison kept his cool on a sweltering Sunday at Dover Downs International grand national cars on one-mile tracks of 123.119 mph.

While other drivers were being forced out of their cars by interior temperatures that some said reach 140 degrees, the Hueytown, Ala., racer was keeping comfortably ventilated in his 1970 Ford by an air hose rigged up the day before the race by his pit crew.

Allison, runner-up to Richard Petty in last year's 300-mile race here, finished with an 18-second margin over Fred Lorenzen's 1971 Dodge. The rest of the field was more than a lap behind, with only 18 of the 40 cars that started were running.

The caution flag stayed out of sight all afternoon, forcing the leaders to drive flat out all the way, hurling themselves around the track once every 29 seconds in the first 500-mile race ever held at Dover Downs.

Half a dozen cars quickly took command and each had the lead at least once before Allison went on top for good at lap 313.

Neumann and Pros Reconciled

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The Memphis Pros and Johnny Neumann, their prize rookie, apparently settled their differences Sunday, but the Pros said a $500 fine leveled earlier will stand.

Neumann, the former University of Mississippi basketball player, talked with Pros' Coach Babe McCarthy and General Manager Charles Cavagnaro Sunday, explaining that he failed to accompany the team's other rookies to Indianapolis Saturday for a game because of "personal problems."

Neumann failed to show when the team was scheduled to depart at Memphis International Airport and didn't call to explain his absence. He then was fined.

"We still feel it was an unfortunate thing to happen," Cavagnaro said. "But we have talked to Johnny, and he explained why he did not make the trip. We have every reason to believe there will be no repeat of this in the future."

Outfielder May Try Pro Golf

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Ken Harrelson, Cleveland Indian first baseman turned outfielder, says this may be his last season in baseball. He wants to try the pro golf tour.

Harrelson, the one-time Kansas City Athletic badboy who made it big with the Boston Red Sox and has had his troubles with the Tribe, said Saturday he will decide at the end of the season whether to continue in baseball.

"Right now, I'd have to say this will be my last year in baseball."

"There are some considerations that might change my mind," he added. "Let's say I'm traded to a club that might win the next four years—then I might reconsider."

The 29-year-old slugger started Saturday's game but was lifted for a pinch runner midway through and then appeared as a pinch hitter Sunday. He struck out with two men aboard and the Indians trailing 3-0 in the fifth inning.

He missed most of last year after suffering a leg fracture, and has been replaced at first base by rookie Chris Chambliss.

Option to Buy Horse Disputed

MIAMI (AP) — Claims by a Miami group that it had received an option to purchase Canonero II for less than $2 million were knocked down Sunday by a spokesman for the man who owns the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner.

Ted Horsey, vice president and treasurer of Financial Administration Inc. of Miami, announced Sunday that Pedro Baptista, Venezuelan owner of the colt that finished fourth in the Belmont Stakes Saturday, had agreed to allow Financial Administration to buy Canonero.

Horsey said the purchase price quoted over the telephone was "less than $2 million." He said his group planned to put the horse out to stud and use the stud fees to benefit poor nations in Latin America.

But Victor Scialom, a spokesman for Baptista, said no agreement had been reached with anyone.

Scialom, a partner with Baptista in other horses, said several groups wanted to buy Canonero, including La Rinconada racetrack in Caracas.

After hearing of Scialom's statement, Horsey said his group has the option on Canonero II until 4 p.m. today.

"We have the option," said Horsey. "I have it on tape. We called Baptista and spoke through an interpreter."

Whitworth Wins Lady Carling Open

BALTIMORE (AP) — Kathy Whitworth, with 57 tournament victories, says she's not even within thinking distance of Mickey Wright's all-time total of 81.

"I don't think about catching Mickey," Kathy said Sunday after winning the Lady Carling Open by a whopping six strokes. "Maybe if I ever get to within five of her total, I will start to thinking."

Subpar rounds of 71, 68 and 71 gave Miss Whitworth a 54-hole total of 210, nine under regulation figures for the Pine Ridge course, and her second straight victory on the current tour.

She also picked up a check for $3,750, giving her $18,875 for the year and running her all-time record of official earnings to $318,084.

"I don't know how long I can continue playing," said the slender 31-year-old resident of Texas, "but I feel I have a lot of good years left. I enjoy playing, and it's still a challenge, so I'll keep on going."

Jane Blalock, with a 70 on the final round, claimed the runnerup spot with a 216 Sunday as those closest to Miss Whitworth after two rounds zoomed over par.

Marilynn Smith and Joanne Carner, only two strokes back as the round started, both turned in 78s and dropped into a six-way tie for 10th place at 219. Carol Mann, who had been only three behind, carded a 76 for a 218.

Now, the club says, golfers playing on the green can press a button to flash on a red light to caution golfers on the other side of the hill against shooting. When they finish playing the hole, they press another button which flashes on a green light.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB Ulcer Diets and Cholesterol

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Although high cholesterol in blood has been discussed many times in different articles I am still confused. I have high cholesterol with an ulcer and have found no doctor with a prescribed diet to control either. Is there any help for me? I did take Atromid for months, but have stopped because of side effects. Any answer would be of help.

Dear Reader—The biggest problem most people have is in understanding that cholesterol is not a fat. People who eat too much fat, or too many calories, often manufacture more cholesterol in the body. The cholesterol with fat particles ends up in the arteries causing atherosclerosis or heart and vascular problems. Then if you eat foods that are rich in cholesterol (not necessarily fat) this adds to the problem. Egg yolks are a good example.

You can have a diet that is useful for treating ulcers, hyperacidity or similar disorders, and still follow recommendations made for patients with a high cholesterol. Neither fat nor cholesterol are necessary for dietary treatment of ulcers at all. Unless you are one of those people who can not tolerate milk (and there are quite a few of them) you can use skim milk or low fat milk—you don't need cream. A moderate amount of lean beef, like round steak with all excess fat removed, is acceptable. Creamed vegetables made with a white sauce without fat is fine. Low fat or uncreamed cottage cheese is good.

In the combined problem of ulcer and high cholesterol you can not rely on eating lots of food to neutralize the acid in the stomach. That is not really good treatment anyway. One of the usual causes for failure in treating an ulcer is failure to take enough antacid. It is almost impossible to take too much of most commercial preparations. One or two tablets every two or four hours is usually not enough. Acid that is not neutralized keeps the ulcer active. The second group of medicines that are helpful block the nerve stimulus to the stomach to form acid pepsin juice. None of these or the antacids will interfere with controlling your high cholesterol.

Often high cholesterol levels can be lowered by sufficient reduction of body fat. It is a bad time to try to reduce while an ulcer is active, but once it is under control, with continued support from ulcer medicines and careful choice of foods, you should be able to reduce if it is needed. An ulcer by the way doesn't keep one from exercising and that could help a good deal.

Medicines used to lower cholesterol are often less effective than diet, exercise and adequate reduction of body fat. To lower cholesterol.

C. Rigby, 15, Wins in Gymnastics

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Cathy Rigby, a barefoot blonde from Long Beach, Calif., won all four events with 15-year-old Kim Chace right behind her each time Saturday as U.S. women dominated the World Cup Gymnastics Championships.

Peter Rohner of Switzerland was best all-around in the men's competition, scoring over 9.0 on each event and winning the horizontal bar competition.

Rohner's steady performance outlasted Poland's Wilhelm Kubica, who turned in a classic performance in the side horse, and Polish teammate Andre Szajna.

Rohner scored 55 points to Kubica's 54.8 total points in rings, floor exercise, horizontal bar, parallel bars and vaulting and side horse.

Miss Rigby, an old-pro in international gymnastics at 18, drew prolonged applause from 2,000 spectators and she swept the all-around in women's competition.

Judges awarded her a near-perfect 9.8 out of a possible 10.0 on the balance beam.

terol levels to desirable ranges most medicines cause undesirable side effects just as you have experienced.

So eat bland foods, low in calories, often and take enough antacid, exercise, and you may do something useful for both your ulcer and high cholesterol.

Jim: "We have certainly had a wonderful response to the JACOBY MODERN weak two-bid. How about some more discussion on it."

Oswald: "We use two clubs as our only forcing opening bid. The other suit two-bids show a six-card suit headed by at least two of the four top honors; 7-10 points in high cards and in general a 6-3-2-2 or 6-3-3-1 distribution." Jim: "South's hand is a classic example of a weak two-bid. He has 9 high-card points; the right distribution and the right suit holding. North's jump to four spades is a gamble. He doesn't know if South can make it but he knows he won't be doubled and he is pretty sure that his opponents can do well in one of the red suits."

Oswald: "Everything turns out fine. South loses the club finesse, but still scores game and rubber while East and West have had to sit back and watch South operate."

Send $1 for your copy of JACOBY MODERN to: "Win at Bridge," (c/o this newspaper), P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Jim: "Without weak two-bids South would pass. West would open one heart and East would take strong action. South might back in or might stay entirely out. Should he stay out West would make four hearts with an overtrick. Should he back in East and West would take the push to five hearts and the best North and South could do would be to sacrifice at five spades."

PERSONAL FINANCE

By RICHARD PRATT

Buying a house can be a pretty emotional experience, perhaps even a little more than you bargained for.

There's the instant infatuation with the home of your dreams, the nagging fear that you may lose it to another buyer, and the developing glow as the day of actual ownership approaches.

But that glow is often damped by doubts about that very moment when title passes from seller to buyer. There are almost as many horror stories about "the closing," as it's known, as there once were about childbirth.

This fear of the closing is compounded mostly from exaggerated truth. In some areas, the buyer does have to write a lot of checks, there are a lot of papers to sign and there may be a room full of people he has never seen before (and will likely never see again).

But there need be little mystery about it, since it follows a precise pattern that in its essentials varies little from state to state. Here is an explanation of the usual items for which fees must be paid at the closing:

Processing Fees — These are fees you pay to the man who is lending you the mortgage money. They are to reimburse him for all kinds of things from paperwork to outside charges. Don't be surprised if they equal one per cent of the mortgage amount.

Other Lending Charges — The lender may also charge you for the cost of a credit investigation, the fee for his attorney and a fee for appraising the property. Under some circumstances he may drop the appraisal fee, but on FHA and VA loans such an appraisal is required, and someone must pay for it.

Title Insurance — You pay this amount to a title insurer who guarantees that the man who is selling you the property really owns it. The insurer tries to make sure of this by searching all records, but if it turns out he is wrong, he will fight all suits and pay up if you lose.

Be forewarned. There are two such policies. One is called a mortgage policy and covers the property for only the amount of the mortgage. If anything goes wrong, the lender gets his money back, but you are left holding the rest of the bag. For an extra fee, you can get an owner's policy that provides similar protection for you.

Taxes — The usual arrangement is for you and the man selling the property to divide the year's taxes, with each paying a share based on the number of days he is the legal owner. If taxes are prepaid, this means you will have to reimburse him for what he has laid out in your behalf.

Lot Survey — You may be required to pay for a survey of the property. This will prove that the lot lies where the documents say it does, and that all buildings on it conform to the setback requirements.

Hazard Insurance — Once you own the new place, you will want to insure it against fire and other hazards. Just to be on the safe side, the

Body Found in Shreveport Motel Pool

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — The body of Mrs. Stanley R. Martin, 38, of Texarkana, Ark., was found in a motel swimming pool here Sunday.

Dr. Stuart DeLee, the Caddo Parish coroner, ruled accidental drowning in the death.

The Martins and their 13-year-old son, Michael, were here on a visit. Officers said Mrs. Martin went swimming alone. A motel employee, walking past the swimming pool, saw her lying on the bottom. He dove in and pulled her out.

had told him to leave her alone.

She testified that Williams raped her twice after the shooting.

Testifying in his own behalf at his trial, Williams said the girl shot her mother and Parsons. He admitted that he tried to persuade Miss Cassidy to have sexual relations with him while her mother and Parsons were engaged in sexual relations in the rear seat of the car but he denied having sexual relations with the girl.

The court, in affirming Williams' conviction, rejected eight points on which he had sought reversal of the judgment. Writing the majority court opinion, Associate Justice J. Fred Jones said the sufficiency of the evidence to sustain the conviction was beyond question.

As much as we might wish we could do so, the trial judge and jury, as well as this court, are powerless to convert the stark reality of a senseless double homicide into merely a child's bad dream," Jones wrote.

In another case, the Supreme Court reversed the conviction of Larry Gray in Crittenden County Circuit Court on a charge of robbing a service station operator of $250. Gray had been sentenced to 18 years in prison.

In reversing the conviction, the appeals court said Circuit Judge A. S. Harrison of Blytheville erred in allowing the state to introduce proof of other armed robberies committed by Gray over a period of about three months.

Train Causes Bomb Scare Near Jerome

DERMOTT, Ark. (AP) — A demolition team from the Pine Bluff Arsenal said early Sunday that what were at first thought to be live bombs aboard a train that derailed near here Saturday night were only bomb hulls and stabilizing fins.

Thirty cars of a 93-car Missouri Pacific freight train derailed near the small town of Jerome, about 10 miles south of Dermott.

The bomb hulls were in the wreckage and persons in the immediate area were evacuated. Firemen from McGehee, Lake Village and Dermott extinguished a fire that broke out when diesel fuel spilled and ignited.

Two crewmen on the train suffered minor injuries.

Police to Discuss Murders

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover have called together law-enforcement officers from each of the 50 states to discuss how to stem a rising tide of police murders.

Following up a White House conference which one Justice Department official described as "window dressing," Mitchell and Hoover have set up a two-day working seminar with police officials at FBI headquarters.

Scheduled to attend the sessions beginning today was the top uniformed officer of the New York City police department, which has lost seven men in the past five months. He is Chief Inspector Michael J.

Codd.

New York Police Commissioner Patrick V. Murphy, saying he was disappointed and dismayed at being left out of last Wednesday's White House conference, has accused the Nixon administration of infusing politics into the issue of police safety. Murphy, a Democrat, was left off the list by Hoover.

The White House meeting and the current sessions were ordered by Nixon in the wake of killings of two officers in Washington and two in New York.

According to statistics on police deaths compiled by the International Association of Chiefs of Police under a Justice Department grant, 52 officers have fallen in the line of duty since Jan. 1.

The total for the full 11 months since the count began is 100, the IACP says. While most of the deaths occurred while the officers were responding to calls or making arrests, at least 20 are attributed by the IACP to ambushes.

On the agenda for the working sessions are discussions of the types of persons convicted of killing law-enforcement officers. According to FBI statistics for prior years, most such persons have records of previous arrests for violent crimes.

Also scheduled are lectures by FBI and Justice Department officials on plans and tactics of terrorist and extremist groups, technical information on explosives, financial assistance available from the federal government and ways of training policemen to improve their safety.
